“ We were neighborhood friends and I remember when he would come and get me from my house even when I didn't have the energy to come out. He just had an energy about him that amazed me. He helped me come out of my shell and I miss seeing him on the curb of his house saying hi to me and me coming over to play video games together. He will forever be in my heart. I love and miss you best friend

“ I was one of the city year assigned to Southridge senior high when I met Jamell...I did not work directly with him regularly, but even so he made his presence known the way his smile would light up a room and how he would treat others. He was incredibly kind, warm, and had an uplifting spirit. I will always remember him and I am glad that our paths crossed. He has been taken from this world much too soon and I give all of his loved ones my deepest, most sincere condolences.

“ My name is Sarah. I had the honor of being Jamell’s City Year team member during his 9th grade English class at Miami Southridge Senior High. He and I bonded almost immediately at the beginning of the school year and I spent much of the year as a support system, mentor, and teacher for him during a very tumultuous year at the school. His final project in my class was producing an original song and music video with his classmates, which launched a love and passion for music production that continued for years after. I had the chance to see him during the summer before his senior year of high school and was blown away by the kind, caring, funny, intelligent young man I saw before me. He was all of those things in 9th grade and I was so proud of how he had continued to develop those traits.

It breaks my heart that he is gone, but I am grateful for every second I knew him. I truly believe he is at peace and I will forever be honored to have been his teacher. He kept my black CY sweater with him all these years, and I hope that he keeps it with him even beyond this life. I loved him dearly and I will carry his light close to my heart forever.

“ Dear family of Jamell,

My name is Christopher Dreeson and I had the pleasure of being one of Jamell's teachers at Miami Beach Senior High. I must share with you that I always looked forward to him arriving in class. He had a gregarious personality and a wicked sense of humor. He had a true gift for making people laugh and just feel better about the day. I am so deeply saddened by his loss. He worked hard this year to pass the FSA by improving his ACT score. Even better, he spent much time in class researching scholarships and had himself set up for two free years at Miami-Dade College.

I can assure you that I will miss him. He had much talent and ambition. He was taken from us much too soon. But please know that he was loved by his classmates and, at the very least, this teacher right here. I will certainly pray for the repose of his soul and for his family, that they will be able to recover from grief and know that Jamell is with our Lord and Savior.

Blessings always,

Christopher Dreeson
